Chicagos Have Another Picnie With Boston's Tailenders-Quakers Subdue the Cardinals-Rain Prevents the Giants and Cincinnatt Reds Game.

The Giants and Cincinnati Reds were nable to play in Porkville yesterday be-cause of rain. The Brooklyns, however, braced up sufficiently to whitewash the pittsburgs, and as the Chicago Cubs put it all over the Boston tailenders the Pirates' four games ahead of Chance's men. Philadelphia defeated the St. Louis Cardinals and drew away from them a trifle. The

BROOKLYN, 1; PITTSBURG, 0. PITTSBURG, Aug. 4.-There was a very seat bit of baseball playing on Forbes's Field this afternoon when the home team pennant aspirants—were outplayed by the lowly Brooklynites and beaten 1 to 0. The Pittsburg baseball public had evidently expected the home team to once more maul the Brooklyns, and so only 3,048 fans saw what was undoubtedly the best game of

The pitching of McIntire was superb, he allowing but four hits to Pittsburg, and he managed to keep them well scattered, as got two of them and the others were made when no harm could be done by them.
Willis also pitched fine ball for Pittsburg. Near the close of the game Clarke thought he saw a chance to score a run if the ball

Near the close of the game Clarke thought he saw a chance to score a run if the ball could be hit safe and he sent Barbeau to bat for the lang fellow and later put Deacon Phillippe in the box.

There were loud cries for Hans Wagner to get into short field, but the kingpin of the Pittsburgs is not yet fit. He did some practice work yesterday before the game, but his heart muscles were made so sore again that his physicians ordered him peremptorily to stay out of uniform until they permitted him to dress for the game. The champion batsman sat in the stand to-day, and swathed in bandages saw his team lose a much needed game. The playing of Abbaticchio at short during the absence of Wagner has been something wonderful. The fielding of both sides was sharp throughout the game. Brooklyn scored the only run of the contest in the second maing when Alperman hit safe, took second on a sacrifice and scored on McMillan's hit. Perhaps the feature of the game was the throw of Leach to the plate attempting to catch Alperman. The score:

Rain prevented the Highlanders and St Louis Browns from playing here yesterday, but they will take part in a double header to-day. Rain also knocked out the struggle between the White Sox and Athletics in Philadelphia. Detroit broke even on a double header in Boston, the Tigers' lead being further reduced to 18 points over Connie Mack's men. The Washingtons suddenly came to life and walloped the Clevelands twice, the first contest being whitewash. The results:

Short of Work. CINCINNATI, Aug. 4.—The Giants are getting more rest than they need on the present trip. After a heavy rain this morning the afternoon cleared, but the field was too wet for play. The game scheduled for to-day will be played on September 25. Griffiths's team isn't in the best of trim at present, and he doesn't care to double at present, and he doesn't care to double up just now. Another postponed game to be played by the New Yorks on their third and last trip West will be in Pittsburg on October 1, this contest having gone over from last Monday.

Although Mathewson has been bumped pretty lively the two times he has pitohed since coming West this time, there is nothing the matter with him save that he is short of work. Since he split his finger in New York about three weeks ago he has been in only three games, one in Boston, one in Pittsburg and one here. He laid off a week after the iniury and hasn't had enough work since to be on edge.

With his regular share of pitching the big boxman will soon be in the effective form he was in when he went on the shelf from his damaged digit. As it was, the Reds wouldn't have got to him the way they did in the ninth inning yesterday if he hadn't had a run around the bases in the fifth half of the inning. Being somewhat out of practice, he was all in from the dash around the sacke, and his service in the inning was void of anything baffling.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

SECRET OF THE ATHLETICS SUCCESS IS DISCLOSED.

Men Are Constantly Encouraged by Manager Mack," Says Catcher Ira Thomas-Highlanders Get NewPlayers -Jeff Sails To-day With Match Unmade

Ira Thomas, the stalwart catcher of the oital list with a badly split thumb, saw the Highlanders and Browns play here on Tuesday. When the score board showed that the Athletics had twice beaten the White Sox while the Detroits had suffered a double defeat in Boston, Thomas said THE SUN man:

"The Athletics will come very near winning the American League pennant. Con-nie Mack is the best manager in the business and he has built up a great ball team from young and inexperienced material. There n't a star on the team, yet the game is played by the Athletics with wonderful ision. Mack has a way of getting the work out of his men that is peculiarly his He never censures a player for making errors. On the contrary he says that when a man commits a fielding blunder it hows that he is trying to do his best. Early this year when the team was going badly and defeats were numerous Mack never lost faith. In his daily chats with the players he kept on saying:

"I know I've got a good ball team here. and the only one we have to beat is Detroit. You can whip all the other teams as soon as you get into the proper stride. Just keep on trying. You may be licked in today's game, but never mind. Also do not worry if you lose again to-morrow, for as on as you strike the proper gait you'll go to the top rapidly.

"This sort of encouragement worked wonders with the Athletics and they soon began to climb. True to Mack's prediction, we have only the Detroits to beat for the ennant, though we are going to have a terrific fight all along the line. Mack has he season away from home this year they will be seriously handicapped, but at the same time, he says, we will have plenty of trouble with these Highlanders and the Soston Red Sox, both of whom are rounding into dangerously good form. be a gruelling race to the wire, and just keep your eyes on Mack's hustling team."
Thomas was secured from the Providence Club several years ago by Clark Griffith for the Highlanders, but finally passed over to the Detroits. Jennings soon let the big backstop go to Mack, for whom he has been catching the game of his life this year, in fact, some of the Philadelphia critics insist in fact, some of the Philadelphia critics insist that Thomas is the best catcher the Athletics have ever had, and they don't forget Schreckengost and the late Doc Powers, either. Mack's development of Eddie Collins, the Columbia College boy, is a sample of his skill. He has also moulded young Barry, another college graduate, into a star shortstop, while Third Baseman Baker, unknown two years ago, has Quakerville by the ears. Bob Ganley, who was a failure with Pittsburg and Washington, has shown remarkable all around speed since partaking of Mack's mysterious tonic and is a factor in the team's success. When the Detroits begin their series in Philadelphia to-morrow it is believed that a pretty good line on the probable American League pennant winner may be secured.

Instead of wasting time with uncertain pitching propositions Manager Stallings might show better results, say many good critics, by using Quinn in at least two games a week. This man, in the opinion of the sharps, is another McGinnity, with an iron constitution and skill that simply needs to be developed.

President Farrell of the Highlanders has begun to buy up new playing talent with the usual lavish hand. In addition to Pitcher Fischer and Second Baseman Wanner of the Hartford Connecticut League Club, secured the other day, he has purchased the releases of Infelder Johnson of Portland, Ore, whose batting average this season is .290; Shortstop Roach of the Lancaster Tri-State League Club, who leads the League in base running and the club in batting, and Outfielder Red Farrell of the Marion Ohio State League team, who comes highly recommended to President Farrell by the Highlanders' coach, Duke Farrell, in whose opinion Red will make his mark in fast company. A pretty strong Farrell combination!

forfeit to bind a match with Johnson, who has put up a similar amount in the hands of a stakeholder of his own. Jeffries has not consented to meet Johnson to talk over the terms of the proposed articles of agreement, and when he sails away to-day Johnson will probably arrive in town from Toronto declaring that the former champion of the world is bluffing. Meanwhile all kinds of would-be fight promoters are beginning to hang up alleged purses for the big fight, which may never take place. Several Texans say they will give a $100,000 purse if the big fellows will fight in the Lone Star State, where every sensible sporting man knows that a championship heavyweight battle would be prevented by the authorities as surely as the sun rises and sets.

At the outset, therefore, the sporting public should remember, fighting men declare, that unless offers for the mill come from promoters in California and Nevada there is not a State in the Union where they will be permitted to fight. It is also a sure thing that the pugilists are not going to enter into any backwoods scheme when they can fight forty-five rounds at James Coffroth's arena in Frisco or to a finish in one of several sporty towns in Nevada. Coffroth will hang up a $50,000 purse in real money, and Nevada will probably be equally liberal. Hugh D. McIntosh, the Australian promoter, has repeatedly offered $50,000 to the men, but may do even better if they will agree to come together in Australia. McIntosh is in London and intends to have a talk with Jeffries when he reaches the other adde. But McIntosh, the Australian promoter, has repeatedly offered $50,000 to the men, but may do even better if they will agree to come together in Australia. McIntosh is in London and intends to have a better line on the heavyweight situation after the Langford-Ketchel and Ketchel-Johnson fights have been decided.

all of the other night managers will have a better line on the heavyweight situation after the Langford-Ketchel and Ketchel-Johnson fights have been decided.

Bill Papke, who knows Stanley Ketchel like a book, says that Ketchel will beat Langford decisively when they come together at the Fairmont A. C. on September S. Papke states that Langford will not be able to stand up under Ketchel's tremendous body punches and that he will be outpunched and outgamed all the way. Ketchel, who has been resting in California, also says he can whip Langford simply by "getting the jump" on the Boston negro. But Langford cares little for newspaper talk and says that Ketchel will have to be very fit in order to escape a knockout. Fight critics all over the country say that Ketchel and Langford are capable of putting up one of the greatest exhibitions of hard hitting ever recorded.

The running of the Saratoga Special on Saturday is exciting unusual interest because of the probable meeting of practically all of the best two-year-olds, unless one or two decline the issue at the last moment. Woodford Clay will send Ocean Bound, winner of the $10,000 Spinaway, to the post, in spite of the fact that the speedy Star Shoot filly was slightly cut behind in Tuesday's race. Clay thinks his filly can beat any two-year-old in training and is anxious to win all he can. Ocean Bound has already cleaned up $12,000 in stakes for the young Kentuckian. Mr. Keene's representative in the Special will be Sweep, the Ben Brush colt who won the National Stallion Stakes at Belmont Park in such an impressive way that he was quickly pronounced another Colin. Sweep suffered from bunked shins "during the Sheepshead Bay meeting and was beaten in the Great Trial, but he has recovered his best form during a month's stay at the Springs and Trainer Rowe has a world of confidence in hm. RACING PARTNERS QUARREL.

Counter Claim—Sheriff Seizes Sir Wooster. yesterday an attachment on which the Sheriff of Nassau county seized Sir Wooster, the crack jumper, and other horses owned by Robert Neville, the Baltimore horseman and breeder, in a suit brought against him by Charles Pfizer, the exhibitor of hunters and M. F. H. of the Essex Hunt. Counse for Pfizer will move in the Supreme Court this morning to have the attachment re-

The suit involving the two well known horsemen arose out of their partnership in racing a string of horses at the leading tracks throughout the country in 1906. In the string were Dick Hoberts, Herculoid, Swamplands, The Lad, The Miner and Welbourne, then a two-year-old. says in his complaint that he loaned Neville $1,750 at Welbourne, Va., on February 21, 1906, which the latter was to pay back at 6 per cent. interest before January 1, 1907. Pfizer says that the loan has been wholly unsatisfied and asks judgment for the entire amount.

Mr. Neville's answer, through his co Evan Tamblyn of the law firm of Almet Reed Latson of 60 Wall street, admits that he got the loan from Pfizer, but says that the amount has been repaid, and he sets up a counter claim of $2,900 in addition, for which he asks judgment. Mr. Neville says that at the beginning of the racing season of 1906 he entered into an agreement with Mr. Pfizer by which he leased to Pfizer the racing qualities of certain horses for the season. the season

The Baltimore horseman declares that the season.

The Baltimore horseman declares that it was agreed that he should keep, train, transport and race the horses during the season and that Pfizer should pay all the season and that Pfizer should pay all the sexpenses. He says that there is due him setso on that agreement. Mr. Neville also says that the horses were all entered in the imme and colors of Mr. Pfizer, who was to collect all the purses the horses won many purses, but that Pfizer has failed to pay him his share and declares that the horses won many purses, but that Pfizer has failed to pay him his share and declares that he is ignorant of the exact amount the horses won without examining Mr. Pfizer.

For a second counterclaim Mr. Neville says that his partner entered the horses in seiling races at prices below their value and that he was obliged to pay large sums to protect his horses. On this account Mr. Neville says that he and Pfizer entered into an agreement in Baltimore by which he was to release Pfizer of all liability for the sums he paid protecting his horses in seiling races on condition that whenever any of the horses were going to compete Mr. Pfizer would notify him and would put a bet down on the horse, giving him half the amount of the winnings. He said that Pfizer notified him that he would put a bet of $1,000 down on Welbourne at one of the races at Baltimore in 1906 and that the horse won at even money. He declares that Pfizer never gave him anything on this occasion and claims $500.

Justice Lehman vaccated the attachment on Mr. Neville's horses on the ground that the summons and complaint in the suit had not been filed in the County Clerk's office within the required time after the attachment was served. Counsel for Mr. Pfizer aaks to have the judgment reinstated on the Found that the complaint was not filed through an oversight.

The Nassau County Board of Supervisors and the officials of the Long Island Motor Parkway have come to an agreement over the disputed highway crossings and construction work on the Parkway will now be pushed as fast as possible. On behalf of the Parkway, General Manager A. R. Pardington has agreed to change the plans for taking the Parkway across the Jericho turnpike to an undergrade crossing to comply with the wishes of the supervisors. The Parkway originally asked for permission to build an overhead crossing over the Jericho turnpike.

The supervisors have granted permission for the Parkway to cross three roads in Nassau county, for which permits had previously been granted by the highway commissioners of the town of North Hempstead. All of the overhead crossings will be built so as to leave a clearance of fourteen feet for the passage of wagons along the public roads. Work on the erection of the crossings and the roadway will be pushed as much as possible and Mr. Pardington hopes to have the work finished early in the fall.

reports as follows concerning a new British apparatus which controls the speed of motor cars:

According to the published description of a practical trial the device automatically removes the clutch when the speed of the car slightly exceeds the arranged limit, and when necessary the brake is also automatically applied until the rate is reduced just below the limit. The brake is then quickly but gently removed and the clutch again put in. A semaphore is automatically raised to warn the driver when he is approaching the maximum. The mechanism, which fits in a compact aluminum box and works in oil, takes very little space. It is put in action or out of gear in an instant, and there is no need to stop or slow down the car while this is being done. The apparatus can be locked up so that the driver of a car cannot exceed the speed desired by the owner.

Every effort was made on the trial to get the car to exceed the limit, which was set for sixteen miles an hour. On coming to a fairly steep hill the engine was allowed full power and the car instantly started to gain speed. But as soon as the limit was reached the brakes were applied strenuously, as if by magic—though no sudden iar was experienced—and the engine merely "raced" without the slightest effect on the sixteen miles an hour rate.
